THE FRIENDSHIP SLOOP SOCIETY

The Friendship Sloop Society is a non-profit organization incorporated in the State of Maine in April of 1961. The purpose of the Society as stated in the Constitution is to encourage the building and sailing of Friendship Sloops, and to provide a medium for owners and friends to meet and enjoy each other around a common interest. The formation of the Society was actively promoted by Bernard MacKenzie of Scituate, Massachusetts, owner of Voyager registered as #1 in the roster. The 1961 Sloop Yearbook lists 22 members. Six craft participated in the first race. Sloops now registering with the Society total 271 with the greatest growth occurring in the 1970's with the addition of 50 fiberglass sloops.

Social and racing events were held in Friendship until 1984 but diverted to Boothbay Harbor to 1985 when the need to accommodate our much enlarged fleet became apparent. Society plans were augmented by a stopover and social events at the Maine Maritime Museum at Bath and participation in Friendship Day at Friendship. In 1995, the opportunity arose to move the Annual Homecoming to Rockland, Maine where the waterfront facilities provided the ability to have all the participating sloops tie to the town's waterfront floats, and a chance to be together as a fleet. This venue provides the chance for skippers, crews, friends, and the public to socialize easier. Sloops located south of Cape Cod participate in the New London activities, also in July. Sloops to the East of Rockland can participate in the Southwest Harbor rendezvous held the Saturday before the sloops gather in Rockland. The long standing racing series in Marblehead is held yearly at the Corinthian Yacht Club in August.

In recent years it has become obvious that we have much in common with the Maine Maritime Museum and have become closely involved with it. Our earliest efforts were, and continue to be, the preservation of records and sloop design information. By storing such records at Bath they become available to all as references year-round in a convenient location. We have already found that this cooperative arrangement is advantageous to both the Society and the Museum. Those interested in Friendship Sloops are urged to take advantage of this reference material.

ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE FRIENDSHIP SLOOP

Evolved from the small centerboard sloop of the late 1800's. Often built by owners during the winter and used inshore for lobstering and as a general purpose carriers for farm produce. By 1900 thirty to forty foot deep-draft sloops predominated and were used in the offshore fisheries and as carriers for fish and lobster processing plants.

Beginning about 1900 auxiliary motors were installed in sloops and by 1920 power boats doomed the sloops for commercial use. Many of the unused sloops were converted to party boats or modified for use by yachtsmen.

An accurate physical description of a Friendship is impossible due to variations introduced by builders. In general terms the craft is gaff rigged, has a clipper bow, a mast equal to the length on deck and stepped well forward, a full length keel and either inside or outside ballast. Newer sloops tend to have shorter spars, less beam and less sail area than older designs. Note that sloop lengths listed in this report are "on-deck" and do not include overhangs.

Early builders of Friendships were the Carters, Collamores, McLains, Priors and Morses, all Muscongus Bay residents. Builders of the 1920 to 1960 period include W. Scott Carter, Winfield and Douglas Lash of Friendship, Philip Nichols of Round Pond and Warren Gannett of Scituate.

SLOOP CLASSIFICATIONS

Ever since the Society was founded, attempts have been made to establish convenient methods of classifying sloops. Initially, the distinction was based on the validity of the design resulting in Class A for “originals” and Class B for “replicas. Later additions were Class C for “near replicas” and Class D for “replicas other than wood”. Obviously these divisions were subject to considerable interpretation. In 1986 Class A was retained and B, C , and D combined.

Currently sloops of the same length, construction material and similarity of design are defined as SEMI-PRODUCTION. All one-of-a-kind Friendships are defined as CUSTOM and outnumber semi-production sloops.

Racing is in two divisions (not classes). Division I craft are usually 25 feet or less on deck and Division II over 25 feet.
